Mr. Abromovitz is an associate in the firm's litigation group. His practice focuses on general commercial litigation, general civil litigation, and trial advocacy. Prior to Law School, Mr. Abromovitz spent over 10 years as an actor (and often bartender) in New York City. Josh has performed all across the country from small professional theaters to Carnegie Hall.

While in Law School, Josh had the honor of interning for both the Honorable Judge Ann Gail Meinster in the First Judicial District (Jefferson County), as well as Justice Brian D. Boatright at the Colorado Supreme Court.

As a representative of the University of Denver's National Trial Team, Josh won Best Advocate at the 2015 Georgetown White Collar Crime Invitational in Washington D.C.

When not in the office, Josh enjoys writing, studying music and exploring the vibrant Denver restaurant scene.
